DIN 13 164 Emergency bag for cars

Description of product

In Germany, the Straßenverkehrszulassungsordnung (StVZO) (the regulations governing the use of vehicles on the road) requires that vehicles carry first-aid materials in compliance with DIN 13 164. Furthermore, there is also a statutory obligation to carry a warning triangle. HEPP emergency bags allow you to keep both items together and ready for use. Set out below is a selection of our emergency bags

Ref. No. 25990

Ref. No. 25980

Ref. No. 25985

Standard emergency bag (Ref. No. 25990) Emergency bag Plus (Ref. No. 25985)

- Contents: First-aid materials complying with DIN 13 164 in a multi-compartment folding bag with a small, strong and high-standing ECE (EURO) warning triangle. The emergency bag Plus stores the warning triangle separately from the first-aid materials in a slide-in compartment with a hook and loop fastener.
- Material: High quality nylon outer cover with water-repellent PVC coating, strong zip fastener with twin zippers.
- Colours: Red or black (Standard), black (Plus); imprint: black or white
- Dimensions: Approx. W 435 x H 100 x D 80 mm (Standard emergency bag)
Approx. W 435 x H 100 x D 90 mm (Emergency bag Plus)
- Weight: Approx. 1.5 kg (Standard emergency bag)
- Information: The emergency bag Plus, which has the advantage of separate storage for the first-aid materials and the warning triangle, avoids the chance of putting away a possibly dirty or wet warning triangle into the same compartment as the first-aid materials, after a breakdown. In addition, in the event of an injury it gives simple and easy access to the first-aid materials packed in a multi-compartment bag without first having to move the warning triangle out of the way. This version of the emergency bag is often preferred by commercial vehicle drivers. The warning triangle complies with European approval requirements.
