First-aid bag and box for travel and household First-aid box for DIY

Description of product

You could require first-aid materials for your own safety or to provide first-aid to others anywhere and at anytime. The kits detailed below are perfect for this first-aid situation. They are based on years of experience and follow the principles given in the DIN standards for first-aid boxes. Well equipped and of good quality, they have the necessary first-aid material for most of all situations, e.g. whilst travelling or for use at home. Both kits offer enough space for any additional personal medication that you may wish to have access to whilst travelling or keep handy at home. The first-aid box for DIY enthusiasts is comprehensively equipped for this purpose.
